(Signed) George Brown

Sworn to and declared before me this 17th day of December 1818. Isaac Belknap. Judge

Letter in folder dated April 30, 1938, written in response to an inquiry.

Reference is made to your letter in which you request the Revolutionary War record of George Brown, born in 1757, died in 1841, who lived at Southold, Long Island.

The data which follow were obtained from the papers filed in pension claim, S.44656, based upon the military service in the Revolutionary War of George Brown, the only soldier of that name in whose claim it is shown that he enlisted while living on Long Island, that is found on the Revolutionary War records of this office.

The date and place of birth and names of the parents of George Brown are not shown.

George Brown enlisted at Brookhaven, Long Island, in March 1776, served as a private in Captain Daniel Roe's Company, Colonel James Clinton's New York Regiment, was in an engagement at Setauket, Long Island, and served one year. [Noted in the margin: "This battle not found but here is such a place on the map."]

He was allowed pension on his application executed December 17, 1717, at which time he was aged sixty-two years and a resident of Orange County, New York.

In 1820, George Brown stated that his wife was aged sixty-four years, but gave no further data in regard to her or to his marriage. He referred to three sons and four daughters all living away from home and with families, but did not give their names.
