Reply to a letter of inquiry dated April 3, 1939, written in response to an inquiry.

Reference is made to your letter in which you request information in regard to the husband of Hannah Rawleigh; she received a pension from the United States and died in 1853, but you do not know the name of her husband.

The data which follow are found in the papers on file in pension claim, W.24797, based upon service of John Wormwood or Warmouth in the Revolutionary War; his widow, Hannah, was doubtless the pensioner to whom you refer.

John Wormwood or Warmouth enlisted August 23, 1776, and served as private in Captain Christian Getman's company of rangers in the New York troops until March 27, 1777; he served as private in the Battle of Oriskany and was present when Captain Andrew Dillenback was killed, also, rendered boat service under Captains Samuel Gray and John Lefler. During the years 1778, 1780, 1781 and 1782, he served at various times, amounting in all to nearly one year, as a private in the New York troops under Captain John Bedhig, Rudolph Kock, Thomas Skinner (5) and Peter B. Tearse (6), and Colonels Jacob Klock, Peter Waggoner and Marinus Willett.

The soldier married April 9, 1787, Hannah Kane. Their names were borne on the records of the Reformed Dutch Church of Stone Arabia, town of Palatine.—Johannes Warmuth and Johanna Kahn.

John Warmouth (Wormwood) died December 17, 1799. Sometime later, his widow, Hannah, married Thomas Rawley or Rawleigh, who died March 25, 1814. The date and place of birth of said Thomas are not shown, nor the date and place of their marriage.

Hannah Rawley (as her name was borne on the pension rolls) was allowed pension on account of service of her former husband, John Warmouth, in the Revolutionary War on her application executed August 28, 1843, at which time she resided in Cobleskill, Schoharie County, New York. She was aged then seventy-five years; the date and place of her birth and the names of her parents were not given. It was not stated that Thomas Rawley rendered service in the Revolutionary War. In 1848, said Hannah resided in Deerfield, Oneida County, New York.

In 1844, Nancy Empie, the daughter of the soldier, John Warmouth and his wife, Hannah, made affidavit in behalf of her mother in Fulton County, New York; her brother, John Warmouth (as he signed his name) was in Fulton County, New York, at that time. Both of them referred to brothers and stated that the names Warmouth and Wormwood were interchangeable.

In 1844, Daniel Rawley, the son of Thomas Rawley and his wife, Hannah, was a resident of Cobleskill, New York. He signed his name Rawley. There are no further data in regard to any other children with the surname Rawley.
